Date of Next Review:	Spring 2027
SLT Responsible:	Assistant Headteacher (SENCO)

1. Introduction

This policy sets out the practice and approach of Hayes School in fulfilling our statutory duties towards students who have special educational needs and/or a disability.

In line with national guidance, Hayes School follows a graduated approach to SEN provision, with the expectation that the vast majority of students will have their needs met through universal provision of high quality teaching. High quality teaching is that which is differentiated to meet student needs. Some students need something additional to and different from what is provided for the majority of students; this is special educational provision and we use our best endeavours to ensure that provision is made for those who need it.

The staff and governors also work to ensure that all SEND (Special Educational Needs and Disability) students reach their full potential, are fully included within the school community and are able to make successful transfers between educational establishments. This policy supports all members of staff in providing positive whole school approaches towards the learning, progress and achievement of SEND students. With this as an underlying principle, we believe that:

All teachers are teachers of students who have Special Educational Needs and/or Disabilities.

Every teacher is responsible and accountable for the progress and development of all students in their class, including where students access support from Teaching Assistants or specialist staff.

This policy is made in compliance with:

- Section 19 of the Children and Families Act 2014
- The Equality Act 2010
- The SEND Code of Practice 2015
- The School Admissions Code of Practice
- Teachers Standards 2012

1.1 The Hayes Approach

At Hayes, our approach to students who have additional needs is underpinned by the school vision to have “uncompromising aspirations for every individual and to be recognised locally, nationally and internationally as an exceptional and inspirational community of lifelong learners.” To this end, our whole school expectation is that students who have special educational needs and/or disabilities should participate, in so far as is possible, in the full range of learning and extracurricular activities that are on offer at Hayes. All students at Hayes, including those with additional needs, follow a broad and balanced curriculum. For all students, other than those within our specialist provision, this includes at least one modern foreign language (in most cases two) at Key Stage 3.

2. Principles

2.1 Admission of a student who is subject of an Education, Health and Care Plan

The Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice (January 2015) requires mainstream schools to admit all pupils who have an Education Health and Care Plan where it has been requested by parents/carers as their school preference and named by the Local Authority (LA).

The LA must comply with this request and name the school in the EHC plan unless:

- it would be unsuitable for the age, ability, aptitude or SEN of the child
- the attendance of the child or young person would be incompatible with the efficient education of others, or the efficient use of resources

Where a parent/carer has expressed a preference for their child to have a place at Hayes School the home local authority for the child consults with the Head of School who will respond to the consultation on behalf of the Governing Body. For admissions at secondary transfer this process typically takes place in the Autumn Term of Year 6.

Once placement is confirmed, the SEN Team will liaise with primary schools and the Local Authority to ensure that full information is gathered to support effective transition to Hayes School. The SENCO, or another member of the SEN Team, will attend the Year 6 Transition Annual Review meeting wherever possible.

No student is refused admission to Hayes School on the basis of their special educational needs, other than in the specific cases (as above) where the school is not able to meet these needs. In line with the Equality Act 2010, we do not discriminate against disabled children in respect of admissions for a reason related to their disability.

We use our best endeavours to provide effective educational provision.

2.2 Student Visits

All Year 6 students will visit the school in the summer term, where they will take part in an Induction Day. Additional visits are organised for Year 6 students with SEND on request from the feeder school. For some students it may be necessary to arrange further meetings with parent/carer and primary school, to ensure that the transition from primary to secondary is as smooth as possible.

2.3 Parent/Carer Visits

At Hayes, we value the partnership established between parents/carers and the school. It is our usual practice to provide opportunities to look around the school at the annual Open Morning and subsequent tours. Members of the Student Support Department will attend the Open Morning to provide information regarding SEN provision at Hayes. We do not have the capacity to accommodate meetings with the SENCO for individual prospective parents/carers, or specific or bespoke visits to the school for those with SEND.

2.4 This SEND Policy reflects the principles and guidance included in the Special educational needs and disability code of practice: 0 to 25 years (January 2015)

Hayes provides a school context where the child is central to our planning and delivery around SEND. Hayes is committed to recognising the importance of the views of the child, as well as those of their parents or carers. Hayes seeks to facilitate the development and increased independence of each child so that they can achieve the best possible outcomes, including helping them to prepare for adulthood. For students who have special educational needs and/or a disability, Hayes recognises that a range of teaching approaches and/or additional support will be required. The principles and priorities for Hayes around SEND are to: -

- Develop a culture of inclusion ensuring high quality teaching for all learners, with teachers using a range of effective differentiation methods,
 - Ensure the Equality Act 2010 duties for students with disabilities are met
 - Value the contribution that all students make to the Hayes School community, and make reasonable adjustments where necessary to ensure that students who have special educational needs and/or a disability are able to do so
 - Support students to become independent learners
 - Make available high quality provision to meet the needs of students who have special educational needs and/or a disability
 - Encourage communication and genuine partnerships with parents/carers of students with special educational needs
 - Facilitate full access to a broad, balanced and relevant education
 - Implement a graduated approach to meeting the needs of students using the Assess, Plan, Do, Review process
 - Use the school's data review and other systems to ensure early identification of student's needs, and early intervention to address those needs
 - Ensure collaboration internally, and with external agencies including Health and Social Care services to provide support and information that will benefit the student
 - Make arrangements in tandem with the Hayes 'Supporting Students with Medical Conditions' Policy and 'Personal and Intimate Care Policy', to support students with medical conditions or additional needs.
 - Work towards appropriate individual learning outcomes based on prior achievement, high aspirations and the views of the learner and family,
 - Share expertise and good practice across the school and the local learning communities
 - Make efficient and effective use of school resources,
 - Have regard to the Code of Practice (2015) for the identification, assessment, support and review of special educational needs,
 - Have regard to guidance detailed by Bromley Local Authority and the Bromley Local Offer

3. Identifying and supporting Special Educational Needs & Disabilities

3.1 Definition of SEND

Students have special educational needs if they have a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special education provision to be made for them namely provision which is additional to or different from that normally available in a differentiated curriculum, in order to progress in line with age related expectations. This may be ongoing or for a limited time.

We regard students as having a Special Educational Need if they:

- a) Have a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of students of the same age, or;
- b) Have a disability which prevents or hinders him/her from making use of facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools or mainstream post-16 institutions.

A child under compulsory age has special educational needs if they fall within the definition at (a) or (b) above or would do so if special educational provision was not made for them (Section 20 Children and Families Act 2014).

Students must not be regarded as having a learning difficulty solely because the language or form of language of their home is different from the language in which they are taught.

Identification of Students with Special Educational Needs

The practice of Hayes School accords with the guidance included in the Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice: 0 to 25 years (January 2015).

Within every cohort of students, it is expected that rates of progress and attainment will vary to some extent over time. This variance can be due to a range of factors. Within this context, the vast majority of students will have their learning needs addressed within the classroom through high quality teaching. A smaller cohort of students may at some point in their school career require provision to be made for them that is different and/or additional to the provision that is made for all students. This is known as special educational provision.

Identification of those students who may need special educational provision is secured through the use of a range of information and data that reflect student progress.

These include: -

- In-year review data concerning attainment and progress (see Review dates as scheduled)
- Attendance data, behavioural/social observations and effort grades
- Data provided through in-school screening assessments undertaken at the start of (or during) the school year
- Data provided by previous schools, through National Testing, and Teacher Assessment
- Reports provided by external agencies such as CAMHS, Health and Therapy Providers, Educational Psychologists
- Information and reports provided by parents/carers about their child
- Student self-assessment and reports
- Outcomes from our Triage process

Where monitoring of student progress identifies the following patterns, this will trigger a response in terms of further investigation and planning:

- Significantly slower progress than others starting from the same baseline
- Evidence that the attainment gap between the student and their peers is not being closed
- The attainment gap between the student and their peers is widening

Hayes will make a graduated response that is matched to the continuum of needs that students present.

After initial identification Hayes adopts an Assess, Plan, Do, Review approach. This allows a tailored approach to be used in order to address concerns about progress. A 'triage' system is in place which involves seeking feedback from teachers from their observations of the student in lessons. Targeted Quality First Teaching (QFT) approaches will be shared and used in order to secure effective learning and progress of the student. Outcomes are monitored thereafter, and further action/intervention agreed, as appropriate.

Parents and carers are informed that a need has been identified and that SEND provision is being made for their child.

3.2 Categories of Special Educational Need

Under the SEND Code of Practice 2015, students identified as having special educational needs (SEN) are considered within one or more of the following categories of need:

Cognition and Learning

Children with learning needs may learn at a slower pace than other children and may have difficulty developing literacy or numeracy skills or understanding new concepts. Learning needs may be in addition to or as a result of other special educational needs.

Cognition and Learning needs include:

- Specific learning difficulties e.g. Dyslexia; dyscalculia; Developmental Coordination Disorder (DCD, sometimes referred to as dyspraxia)
- Processing difficulties
- Working memory difficulties

Communication and Interaction needs

Children with speech, language and communication needs (SLCN) have difficulty in communicating with others. This may be because they have difficulty saying what they want to, understanding what is being said to them or because they do not understand or use social rules of communication.

Communication and Interaction needs include:

- Speech, language and communication needs (SLCN), including Developmental Language Disorder
- Autism Spectrum Condition (ASC)
- Social communication difficulties

Social, Emotional and Mental Health Difficulties

Children may experience a wide range of social and emotional difficulties which manifest themselves in many ways. These may include becoming withdrawn or isolated, as well as displaying challenging, disruptive or disturbing behaviour. These behaviours may reflect underlying mental health difficulties such as anxiety or depression, self-harming, substance misuse, eating disorders or physical symptoms that are medically unexplained.

Social, Emotional and Mental Health Difficulties include:

- ADD (Attention Deficit Disorder)
- ADHD (Attention Deficit and Hyperactivity Disorder)
- Attachment Disorder

Sensory and/or Physical needs

Some children require special educational provision because they have a sensory and/or physical disability. These difficulties can be age related and may fluctuate over time.

Sensory and/or physical needs include:

- Physical disability
- Visual impairment (VI)
- Hearing impairment (HI – including Deaf and hearing impairment)
- Sensory sensitivities
- Colour blindness

Many students with sensory and/or physical disabilities may require adaptations, made as reasonable adjustments under the Equality Act 2010.

4. Monitoring and Evaluation of SEND

Students with Special Educational Needs/Disability are monitored and reviewed in the same way as all other students in the school. However, they are also reviewed by the SENCO or members of their team by:

Annual Review – As directed by the Education Health and Care (EHC) plans

Parents' Evening – Parents/carers have the opportunity to meet with the SENCO at the annual parents' meeting.

Additional Meetings – These are offered by the SENCO/members of the SEN department.

Regular monitoring of the quality of provision for all students, including those with SEND, follows the School's assessment and monitoring calendar. In addition, the cycle of Assess, Plan, Do and Review ensures that students with SEND have their individual provision reviewed regularly, and at least termly.

In some cases, it may be necessary to seek assessment by, or advice from, an external professional such as an educational psychologist, or through referral to NHS providers, such as Speech and Language and the Community Paediatric Service. This always involves discussion and agreement with the student's parents/carers.

The SEN department works collaboratively with external agencies including CAMHS, the Personalised Education Service, Educational Psychologists, Community Paediatrics and other professionals, in order to provide the best possible support for students.

5.2 Assess, Plan, Do and Review

SEND support takes the form of a four-part cycle through which earlier decisions and actions are revisited, refined and revised with a growing understanding of the student's needs and of what supports the student in making good progress and securing good outcomes. This is known as the graduated approach – assess, plan, do, review.

For students with low level special educational needs the cycle of Assess, Plan, Do and Review fits into the regular termly assessment and planning cycle for all students. For those students with more complex needs or for who a more frequent cycle needs to be employed additional meeting dates are set.

5.3 Exit Criteria

When a student has made sufficient progress in their area of need that they no longer require any provision that is different from or additional to that which is normally available as part of high quality and differentiated teaching, they are no longer seen as requiring SEND Support. At this point, through discussion and agreement with parents/carers the student may be removed from the SEN register, or included in a monitoring/informative capacity.

6. Statutory Assessment of Needs (EHCNA)

Where, despite the school having taken relevant and purposeful action to identify, assess and meet the Special Educational Needs and/or Disabilities of the student, the child has not made expected progress, the school or parents/carers may consider requesting that the Local Authority (LA) make an Education, Health and Care (EHC) needs assessment. The evidence gathered through the process of review helps to support the Local Authority (LA) in determining when this statutory assessment of needs is required.

Where a student has an Education Health and Care Plan (EHCP), the Local Authority must review the plan every twelve months as a minimum. The School leads the annual review meetings on behalf of Bromley LA and completes the appropriate paperwork for this process, gathering information from teachers, parents/carers, the student and any other professionals working with the student in support of this.

6.1 Supporting Students and Families

We value and accept the positive role and contribution parents/carers can make. We make every effort to work in full co-operation with parents/carers, recognising and respecting their roles and responsibilities. Parents/carers are encouraged to work with the school and other professionals to ensure that their child's needs are identified properly and met as early as possible.

At Hayes School we endeavour to support parents/carers so that they are able to:

- Feel fully supported and taken seriously should they raise a concern about their child
- Recognise and fulfil their responsibilities and play an active and valued role in their child's education
- Understand procedures and documentation
- Make their views known about how their child is educated
- Have access to information, advice and support during assessment and any related decision-making process about special educational provision
- Be provided with relevant resources so they reinforce learning in the home.

6.3 Student Voice

One of the principles underpinning the "Special educational needs and disability code of practice: 0 to 25 years (2015)" states that there must be regard to "the views, wishes and feelings of the child or young person...."

Hayes regards student views as a key component in helping to shape the Hayes School community as a thriving, stimulating, and mutually respectful learning environment. Hayes recognises specifically that students who have special educational needs and/or a disability must be able to express their views, feelings, and aspirations throughout the year, and specifically at times of change and transition. Hayes recognises its responsibility in securing the views of students in accordance with their age, ability and capacity. Reasonable adjustments will be made where appropriate in order to facilitate input by all students, including during target setting and planning activities.

6.4 Partnership with External Agencies

The school is supported by a range of different agencies and external professionals. The school's SEND Information Report provides further information. This report can be found on the school website and is up-dated annually.

6.5 Transition

A change of school, class and staff can be an exciting, yet anxious time for all students. We recognise that this can be very challenging for some students with SEND. We endeavour to make sure these periods of change are carefully planned and managed to provide continuity of high quality provision and reassurance to students and families.

7. Training and Resources

7.1 Allocation of Resources

- Each year we map our provision to show how we allocate human resources. This is reviewed regularly and can change during the academic year, responding to the changing needs within our classes.
- This support may take the form of differentiated work in class, support from a Teaching Assistant in focused intervention in groups, or for individuals.
- Specialist equipment, books or other resources that may help the student are purchased as required

7.2 Continuing Professional Development (CPD) in Special Educational Needs and Disability for Teachers and Support Staff

- All staff at school have regular CPD where adaptive teaching is addressed.
- The SENCO/Assistant Headteacher with oversight of SEND provision has undertaken the National Award for Special Educational Needs Co-ordination.
- The SENCO has undertaken the Certificate in Psychometric Testing, Assessment and Access Arrangements.
- The Deputy SENCO is undertaking the SENCO NPQ
- The SENCO, Deputy Head, SEN team and other SLT members provide regular CPD to other staff in school to support staff in understanding and meeting the needs of students with SEND.
- Teaching assistants are engaged in training whereby the role of the teaching assistant is developed. The department ethos is forward looking with regular sharing of knowledge, strategies and ideas.
- External trainers are brought in periodically to address more specialist training needs such as dealing with specific medical conditions or to train staff in the use of specific interventions.
- Peer support and guidance is available daily for all staff in school and some of the best training development occurs through professional dialogue with colleagues looking at meeting the specific needs of a student.

7.3 Funding

Funding for SEN in mainstream schools is mostly delegated to the school's budget. It is a requirement that schools provide support to students with SEND from their "notional" SEND budget. Where a student requires an exceptionally high level of support that incurs a greater expense, the school can make a request for Additional Resource known as a Funded Inclusion Plan (FIP). Where student needs are such that additional funding will be required on an indefinite basis, the expectation is that an application will be made for an EHCP. An Educational Health Care Plan (EHCP) will be allocated 'top up' funding in proportion to the additional support that is specified as necessary provision. In submitting a request for additional funding, the school must demonstrate how it has allocated the "notional" budget to date and the impact of this, as well as demonstrating why further additional funding is required and how it is to be used. This additional 'top-up' funding is paid from the local authority's high needs block into the school's budget.

7.4 Personal Budgets

Personal Budgets are only available from the local authority to students with an Education, Health and Social Care Plan (EHCP). Funding can be made available to parents/carers as a personal budget for them to commission their own provision for their child under certain conditions.

Parents/carers who would like to enquire further about using the personal budget should speak to their EHCP Co-ordinator.

8. Roles and Responsibilities

8.1

Provision for students with special educational needs is a matter for the school as a whole. In addition to the Governing Body, Headteacher and SENCO, all members of staff have important responsibilities.

8.2 Governing Body

The Governing Body follows the guidelines as laid down in the SEND Code of Practice (2015) to:

- use their best endeavours to make sure that a child with SEND gets the support they need – this means doing everything they can to meet children and young people's Special Educational Needs
- ensure that children and young people with SEND engage in the activities of the school, alongside students who do not have SEND
- designate a teacher to be responsible for co-ordinating SEND provision – the SEND coordinator, or SENCO.
- ensure that the school inform parents/carers when they are making special educational provision for a child
- prepare a SEND Information Report (updated annually) and the arrangements for the admission of disabled children, the steps being taken to prevent disabled children from being treated less favourably than others, the facilities provided to enable access to the school for disabled children and their accessibility plan showing how they plan to improve access progressively over time

8.3 The Head of School

The Headteacher has responsibility for the day-to-day management of all aspects of the school's work, including provision for children with special educational needs and disabilities. The Head of School keeps the Governing Body fully informed on Special Educational Needs issues. The Head of School works closely with the SENCO and the Governor with responsibility for SEND.

8.4 SENCO/Assistant Headteacher

In collaboration with the Head of School and Governing Body, the SENCO determines the strategic development of the SEND policy and provision with the ultimate aim of raising the achievement of students with SEND. The SENCO has completed the National Award for Special Educational Needs Coordination and is a member of the Senior Leadership Team, in line with government guidance for best practice.

The SENCO takes day-to-day responsibility for the operation of the SEND policy and oversees co-ordinating the provision for individual children, working closely with staff, parents/carers and external agencies. The SENCO provides relevant professional guidance to colleagues with the aim of securing high- quality teaching for children with special educational needs.

8.5 All Teaching and Non-Teaching Staff

- All staff are aware of the school's SEND policy and the procedures for identifying, assessing and making provision for students with special educational needs.
- Class teachers are fully involved in providing high quality teaching, differentiated for individual students. This includes reviewing and, where necessary, improving, their understanding of strategies to identify and support vulnerable students and their knowledge of the SEND most frequently encountered.
- Class teachers are responsible for setting suitable learning challenges and facilitating effective special educational provision in response to students' diverse needs in order to remove potential barriers to learning. This process should include working with the SENCo, where appropriate, to carry out a clear analysis of the student's needs, drawing on the teacher's assessment and experience of the student as well as previous progress and attainment.
- Teaching Assistants liaise with the class teacher and SENCo on planning, on student response and on progress in order to contribute effectively to the graduated response, (assess, plan, do, review).

8.6 Meeting Medical Needs

The Children and Families Act 2014 places a duty on schools to make arrangements to support students with medical conditions. Individual healthcare plans normally specify the type and level of support required to meet the medical needs of such students.

Where children and young people also have SEND, their provision is planned and delivered in a coordinated way using the DAF paperwork. For those students with an Education, Health and Care (EHC) plan this is used as it brings together health and social care needs, as well as their special educational provision.

The school recognises that students at school with medical conditions should be properly supported so that they have full access to education, including school trips and physical education. Some children with medical conditions may be disabled and where this is the case the school complies with its duties under the Equality Act 2010. Please see the schools Supporting Students with Medical Needs Policy for further details.

8.7 Children in Hospital

The member of staff responsible for ensuring that students with health needs have proper access to education liaises with other agencies and professionals, as well as parents/carers, to ensure good communication and effective sharing of information. This enables optimum opportunities for educational progress and achievement.

9. SEND Information Report

The school ensures that the SEND Information Report is accessible on the school website. Governors have a legal duty to publish information on their websites about the implementation of the policy for students with SEND. The information published is updated annually and any changes to the information occurring during the year is updated as soon as possible.

10. Complaints Procedure

In the first instance, any concerns about issues relating to Special Educational Needs, as with other aspects of the curriculum should be dealt with by direct approach to the school, via the SENCO. If the matters are not dealt with satisfactorily the Head of School should be contacted informally in order to try to resolve the problem.

If a parent/carer is still not satisfied, a written formal complaint should be lodged with the Head of School. It should be made clear that it is a 'formal complaint' and full details should be given in writing.

Further details of these procedures may be obtained from the school. The complaints policy is available on the Hayes School website.

11. Students who have Special Educational Needs and Disabilities: Safeguarding

Students who have special educational needs and disabilities (SEND) are often vulnerable and can face additional safeguarding challenges. Additional barriers can exist when recognising abuse and neglect in this group of students.

These can include:

- Assumptions that indicators of possible abuse such as behaviour, mood and injury relate to the young person's disability without further exploration
- Being disproportionately impacted by issues such as bullying, without outwardly showing any signs
- Communication barriers and difficulties in overcoming these barriers

See also the Safeguarding and Child Protection Policy for guidance in relation to these safeguarding challenges and next steps.

12. Hayes School Code of Conduct

Students who have special educational needs and disabilities (SEND) are expected to follow the 'Hayes Way' and are subject to the school's Behaviour Management Policy which aims to promote positive behaviour, self-discipline and respect within the school and in the wider community, including outside school. The policy's stated aims are also to prevent bullying and regulate the conduct of students.

The school will seek to ensure that sanctions are reasonable and proportionate and will take account of an individual student's needs, exercising discretion where appropriate, in line with our Behaviour Policy. The sensitive use of reprimands and sanctions is an effective means of cutting short inappropriate behaviours. Any sanction should be appropriate and it is expected that behaviour will improve as a consequence. As far as possible, staff members will support students in understanding their behaviour and its consequences.
